Om prosjektet

The Silk Roads serve as the world's central nervous system, connecting peoples and places together, but lying beneath the skin, invisible to the naked eye. Today the Silk Roads are rising again—unobserved and overlooked by many. The Chinese One Belt One Road initiative is a region and series of connections re-emerging in front of our eyes. It's with curiosity that we follow China's rise as an economic, innovative and knowledge-producing new superpower. The influence of China on international conditions continues to increase in scale and complexity worldwide. That means, in order to participate in the future, we must learn to understand these connections, our past and how to contribute in this development, for better and for worse.
