Dear Tone Stedal Haugland,

We are five students of the Institute of Political Sciences in Rennes. In the frame of our studies (sustainable development), we organize a workshop (called the Franco-Nordic meetings) in partnership with nordic countries about city's resiliency to climate changes. It will take place in Caen (France, Normandy), in March (11th, 12th and 13th). We are organizing the event in the frame of the UNIDSR campaign « Making cities resilient: my city is getting ready ». We are also interested in what searches, companies, cities and some humanitarian association like the Red Cross do in the field of resiliency. To do such an event, we are inviting representatives of these different actors to exchange about their point of view, their experience, what they do. The purpose is then to debate and propose new ideas or advices in the field of risk management. So we want to invite French municipal officials and also actors from Nordic Countries (like Sweden, Norway, Finland or Denmark) for a meeting and an exchange between them. Thus, Jérôme Rémy, director of the Festival Les Boréales in Caen gave us your contact to help us finding an intervenor from Sweden, and if possible from Bergen. Do you think you can help us and maybe give us some contacts who would be interesting in our project and in participating in our colloque? (all costs will be then covered)

In a hope for a positive reply, we remain at your entire disposal for any questions or further informations about our project.

Best Regards,

Clément DEVIEILHE,

member of the team of the Franco-Nordic Meetings
